The primary election will be held Tuesday, September 16th.

There will be two separate tickets to be voted at the primaries—the non-partisan judiciary ticket and the partisan ballot on which candidates for county, borough and township offices will have their names.

If a voter is enrolled he can vote both tickets, but if he is not enrolled he can vote only the non-partisan judge ballot.

Candidates for the judiciary are not identified by party titles, hence the voter is not voting against his own party by voting for any of the judicial candidates, no matter who that candidate may be.

Voting for a candidate for judge does not bind the voter to anything more than his act at the primaries, and does not affect his standing as a Washington, Republican or Democratic voter.

The voter who supports a judicial candidate at the primaries cannot be deprived of his right to vote for his own party candidates at the November election.

Party lines are not drawn in the non-partisan contest for judicial nominations, and the voter may vote for any of the judicial candidates without regarding himself unfaithful to the political party of his choice.

The pope, however, insisted upon keeping engagements he had made, and he received Cardinal Ferrari of Milan, who headed a body of Milanese pilgrims. The pope afterward appeared before the pilgrims themselves and welcomed them to Rome.

HUERTA WILL NOT BE MEXICAN CANDIDATE

Gamboa or Trevino to Be Next President, It Is Thought.

Washington, Sept. 5.—John Lind has reported to President Wilson that General Huerta, provisional president of Mexico, will not be a candidate to succeed himself. He has been assured that General Huerta will not resign to make himself eligible to be a candidate under the Mexican constitution.

The impression here is that the elimination of General Huerta means the election of Federico Gamboa, present minister of foreign affairs, or General Geronimo Trevino. Both of these men are equally objectionable to the Constitutionalists rebels in the north, and their election would not be a great step toward peace.

The information that General Huerta would not be a candidate was given orally to Mr. O'Shaughnessy, chargé d'affaires at the United States embassy, by Senator Gamboa, who has acted as General Huerta's spokesman in all the negotiations. The report from Mr. Lind was placed before the president by Secretary Bryan, who was in Washington.

J. W. G. CLUB

Holds Its Annual Outing and Elects Officers.

The J. W. G. Club had its annual outing at the home of Harry Schucker "The Gladiola Poultry and Fruit Farm," yesterday, the club being composed of a few German families, formerly of Bloom and Brady townships, to the number of about thirty.

A good social time was had. Mrs. Schucker and Mr. Kolbe favored the club with a German song, which made quite a hit.

Elegant refreshments were served on the lawn, which was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns.

The minutes of the meeting of the previous year were read and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. M. M. Labarr.
Vice President—Mrs. E. L. Shirley.
Secretary—Lillian V. Wingert.
Treasurer—Mrs. R. Cathcart.

After a vote of thanks given the host and hostess the guests departed for their homes at a late hour, all declaring they had a royal good time.

Aufwiedersehen.

POPE SUFFERS FROM COLD.
Illness Reported Slight, and He Received Pilgrims.

Rome, Sept. 5.—Pope Pius X. is again suffering an indisposition, recalling the serious illness through which he passed last spring. At the Vatican it is said that his present trouble is slight, due to a cold, but it has brought on hoarseness, headache and a slightly rising temperature, and the Vatican physicians have suggested a complete rest.

The pope, however, insisted upon keeping engagements he had made, and he received Cardinal Ferrari of Milan, who headed a body of Milanese pilgrims. The pope afterward appeared before the pilgrims themselves and welcomed them to Rome.

STEAMER GETS OFF MUD.

President Lincoln Aground Until High Tide Floats Her.

New York, Sept. 5.—The Hamburg American steamship President Lincoln ran aground in the bay off Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, and stuck there until several tugs pulled her off at high tide.

On account of the longshoremen's strike at Hoboken, where the big Hamburg-American docks are located, the President Lincoln was taken to South Brooklyn for her load of freight. She was scheduled to sail and was on her way from South Brooklyn to take on passengers at Hoboken when she got into difficulty.

DEATHS OF A DAY.

William Henry Mauls, wealthy seed merchant and prominent in Philadelphia club circles, died suddenly of paralysis at the New York club. He was fifty-five years old.

James M. Grant, whose father served in the Revolutionary war and was wounded twice at Bunker Hill, died at his home in Hartford, Conn. He was ninety-four years old.

Captain James Reid of Barrie, Ont., widely known as a great lakes wrecking master, died as the result of a general physical breakdown. He was sixty-eight years old.

Henry E. Moore, the wealthy and eccentric Philadelphia alimony dodger, died in Hackensack. He was under $50,000 bond, pending his divorced wife's suit to recover $25,000 back alimony.

Dr. Edward Worcester, who was said to be the oldest hospitable physician in this country, died at Waltham, Mass., where he resided for fifty-three years. He was born in Brighton in 1826.

FRAWLEY INQUIRY ON.

Legislative Committee Has Resumed Its Sessions.

New York, Sept. 5.—After many delays and postponements the legislative committee, of which State Senator James J. Frawley is chairman, got down to business again.

A half dozen witnesses in answer to subpoenas appeared.

Herbert H. Lehman, custodian of the primary dough bag, was expected to be the star witness. Mr. Lehman, who received and disbursed the contributions in question, has been subpoenaed, and signified his willingness to tell all that he knows about the fund.

Russian Destroyer Very Fast.
Swinemunde, Germany, Sept. 5.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer, Novik, established a record when she attained a maximum speed of 27.3 knots on her trials here. Her average speed over the measured mile was thirty-seven knots. The Novik, which was built in Germany, burns oil and is not fitted with smokestacks.

Gamboa or Trevino to Be Next President, It Is Thought.

Washington, Sept. 5.—John Lind has reported to President Wilson that General Huerta, provisional president of Mexico, will not be a candidate to succeed himself. He has been assured that General Huerta will not resign to make himself eligible to be a candidate under the Mexican constitution.

The impression here is that the elimination of General Huerta means the election of Federico Gamboa, present minister of foreign affairs, or General Geronimo Trevino. Both of these men are equally objectionable to the Constitutionalists rebels in the north, and their election would not be a great step toward peace.

The information that General Huerta would not be a candidate was given orally to Mr. O'Shaughnessy, chargé d'affaires at the United States embassy, by Senator Gamboa, who has acted as General Huerta's spokesman in all the negotiations. The report from Mr. Lind was placed before the president by Secretary Bryan, who was in Washington.

TEACHERS AND CHILDREN

In an address before the teachers of Altoona this week City Superintendent Balish said:

"I hope every child who attends school during the coming term will be made to feel that his teacher is one of his best friends and his school a place of sympathy and helpfulness."

"That statement is worthy of consideration by every teacher in Clearfield county. The children who attend the schools are human beings.
They are susceptible to training which will make of them useful citizens, and that training can best be given by the teacher who plans her work with a determination to give the best possible service. Children are entitled to be regarded as children, not as adults possessed of good judgment and the wisdom acquired by experience, and the teacher should treat the pupil as a child, not as an adult."

The child who returns from school at the close of the opening day and reports that she loves her teacher can be brought to maintain that admiration through the entire school term if the teacher deserves the confidence of the pupil. The teacher who inspires love and esteem is the teacher who will make success of her profession and bring forth a class of capable students. The teacher who is not loved, but who is disliked by the pupils in her school will prove a failure as a teacher and a detriment to the advancement of the children in her charge.

Children who attend school are entitled to receive an education that will be beneficial in the future.
If they are denied this they will be cheated out of their rights. It rests with the teacher whether her work shall be a failure or a success, whether the children of Clearfield shall be educated or turned out useless and incompetent or whether they shall be moulded into practical citizens fully equipped to take up life's burdens.
The teacher who is loved by her pupils is the teacher who gives full value for the salary she receives. A teacher who merits that love by her tact and ability wins much more than the dollars and cents she receives in salary.

HAY FEVER.

There are people who consider it smart to joke the hay fever victim.
This is wrong. The person who is attacked by hay fever is entitled to sympathy, and gets it from almost everybody who knows what an unpleasant, annoying and persistent disease hay fever is. Even the newspaper men who say what they deem humorous things of hay fever sneez-ers extend heartfelt sympathy to the sufferers.

It is said that there is no remedy for hay fever. This is probably true, but there must be preventives. The golden of certain plants such as golden rod, poppies and the like are said to incite hay fever seems to vigorous action. Then why not get rid of the plants? Golden rod thrives on almost every farm, and farmers pay little attention to it. True, scientists botanists or floriculturists call golden rod all kinds of names, but what benefit is derived by the hay fever victim to know that golden rod is known in botanical circles as "an as-teous plant of the genus solidago?" Relief from the worst effects of hay fever may be gained by change of residence, hence there are in this country many hotels which advertise the climate which surrounds them as free from hay fever germs. But there is no permanent cure for the ailment, and the man who is attacked by the infection must endure his sufferings as best he can, hoping against hope that some day the disease will become tired torturing him and quit.

HOW TO VOTE AT PRIMARY

In a few plain words here is the way you will vote at the primaries
on September sixteenth:

You will go to the polls and ask for a non-partisan judiciary ticket having received it, you will mark an X opposite the name of the candidate you wish to vote for and hand the ballot to the election officer. You will do this without binding yourself to vote for the candidates of any political party at the November election.
You will also receive another ballot of the political party to which you hold allegiance, and upon this ballot you will place crosses opposite the names of candidates for county, borough or township offices for whom you wish to vote at the November election. This is a partisan ballot and is entirely separate and apart from the non-partisan judiciary ballot.

You need not state what your politics is when you ask for a non-partisan ballot, but you must declare you politics when you ask for the ballot of your party.

If you will bear these facts in mind you will have no trouble in voting correctly at the primaries.

If any other town in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania can show as many attractive young girls as travel the streets of Clearfield on their way to the high school that town will learn something to its advantage by addressing this office.

Americans in Mexico who have not heeded President Wilson's advice to come home may know more about the situation in that country than the president does.

There was a small attendance of delegates at the meeting of the Federation of Democratic clubs at York this week. Cause: Most Democrats are sitting on the fence waiting for federal jobs to come along.

Those people who are so much exercised over "September Morn" co-suetes will soon be taking December morn overcoats out of camp.

If it wasn't for the cost of it more people who want to commit suicide would travel on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

THAW TELLS OF HIS FLIGHT TO CANADA

Fugitive Took Stand at Deportation Hearing.

CLAIMS RIGHT OF TOURIST.

Forced to Take Oath on Bible as to
Truth of His Testimony—Says He
Took Train For Canada at Rochester,
N. Y., Intending to Go to Pittsburgh.
His Aide Likewise Testify.

Coaticook, Que., Sept. 5.—Testifying
for the first time in his own behalf
since his arrest in Canada as a fugitive
from Matteawan asylum, Harry K.
Thaw told to a special board of inquiry some of the details of his flight
and entry into Canada. Upon the outcome of the hearing depended whether Thaw will be deported immediately to Vermont and there held for extradition
to New York.

The prisoner was forced to take oath
on the Bible before he began his testimony before the board, consisting of
E. Blake Robinson, assistant superintendent of immigration, and five inspectors.

The witness said he took a train at Rochester, N. H., and that his objective point was Pittsburgh. He bought several tickets, he said, because his route was uncertain. He told of hiring two farmers to carry him into Canada after he left the train. In more detail he explained how he had bought
a ticket to Beecher Falls, Vt., the last station on the Maine Central railroad.
Learning that the train stopped at that
point, he left it and engaged a buggy
to take him on into Canada.

The witness himself brought up the point that his case came under what is known as the tourist's law in the immigration act. This was a point in his favor which was not overlooked,
the board agreeing to take it under consideration and to render a decision
upon it.

Claims Tourist Right.

The law referred to provides that a tourist passing through Canada be exempt from molestation under Section
2, paragraph 4 of the immigration act.
Thaw insisted that he must be considered as such a tourist and so should be allowed to continue his trip to Pittsburgh.

H. Johnston, a farmer, who drove Thaw across the line, was the second witness. He said they drove toward the border in the direction of Par-quetville. A hundred feet from the line they turned back, he said, and
made their way toward Canaan, Vt.
Finally they crossed the border at Peabody Line House. Johnston added
that as they went through that place
the low, cautious tone of Thaw's voice frightened him, and he refused to proceed.

Thaw and his companions, among
them Roger Thompson, according to
the witness, alighted and went to the house of Octave Madeau. Madeau agreed to drive them to the inn at St.
Hermengilde de Garford, owned by Benjamin Cadieux. At this point Cadieux was called to the stand.

"May Last a Week."

"It may last an hour or it may last a week," said E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration,
as he entered the immigration office to take charge of the hearing. It is now believed that nothing can stop Thaw's
deportation, though the time of the action is in doubt.

THAW TELLS OF HIS FLIGHT TO CANADA

Fugitive Took Stand at Deportation Hearing.

CLAIMS RIGHT OF TOURIST.

Forced to Take Oath on Bible as to
Truth of His Testimony—Says He
Took Train For Canada at Rochester,
N. Y., Intending to Go to Pittsburgh.
His Aids Likewise Testify.

Coaticook, Que., Sept. 5.—Testifying
for the first time in his own behalf
since his arrest in Canada as a fugitive
from Matteawan asylum, Harry K.
Thaw told to a special board of inquiry some of the details of his flight
and entry into Canada. Upon the outcome of the hearing depended whether Thaw will be deported immediately to Vermont and there held for extradition
to New York.

The prisoner was forced to take oath
on the Bible before he began his testimony before the board, consisting of
E. Blake Robinson, assistant superintendent of immigration, and five inspectors.

The witness said he took a train at Rochester, N. H., and that his objective point was Pittsburgh. He bought several tickets, he said, because his
route was uncertain. He told of hiring two farmers to carry him into Canada after he left the train. In more detail he explained how he had bought
a ticket to Beecher Falls, Vt., the last
station on the Maine Central railroad.
Learning that the train stopped at that
point, he left it and engaged a buggy
to take him on into Canada.

The witness himself brought up the
point that his case came under what
is known as the tourist's law in the
immigration act. This was a point in
his favor which was not overlooked,
the board agreeing to take it under
consideration and to render a decision
upon it.

Claims Tourist Right.

The law referred to provides that a
tourist passing through Canada be exempt from molestation under Section
2, paragraph 4 of the immigration act.
Thaw insisted that he must be considered as such a tourist and so should be allowed to continue his trip to Pittsburgh.

H. Johnston, a farmer, who drove Thaw across the line, was the second witness. He said they drove toward
the border in the direction of Par-quetville. A hundred feet from the
line they turned back, he said, and
made their way toward Canaan, Vt.
Finally they crossed the border at
Peabody Line House. Johnston added
that as they went through that place
the low, cautious tone of Thaw's voice
frightened him, and he refused to proceed.

Thaw and his companions, among
them Roger Thompson, according to
the witness, alighted and went to the
house of Octave Madeau. Madeau
agreed to drive them to the inn at St.
Hermengilde de Garford, owned by Benjamin Cadieux. At this point Ca-
dieux was called to the stand.

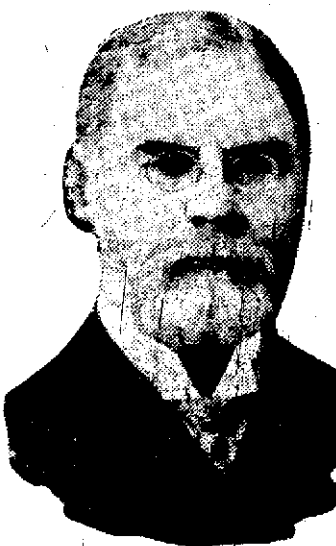

"May Last a Week."

"It may last an hour or it may last a week," said E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration,
as he entered the immigration office to
take charge of the hearing. It is now believed that nothing can stop Thaw's
deportation, though the time of the action is in doubt.

AMUSEMENTS

The Common Law.

"The Common Law," dramatized from Robert W. Chambers' startling book, and which will be made known to our theatre patrons next Monday night, at New Opera House, has created such an amount of sensational interest that curiosity to see its presentation has been uncommonly aroused.

Mr. Chambers' story is set in an atmosphere of studio life and relates to the experience of an unsophisticated girl who meets her fate in Bohemia. Love itself she worshipped, no matter what rights and ceremonies she observed in its adoration. Seats on sale tomorrow at 8 A. M.

"Within the Law" here.

A coming attraction at the New opera house is Bayard Veiller's "Within the Law," which ran for an entire year at the Eldorado Theatre, New York city and will be seen here Wednesday night. This is the melodrama treating of modern conditions in New York life, which has caused a sensation not only in the metropolis, but throughout the country; for it has provoked editorial comment and praise from such eminent Americans as Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst and the Bishop of Wyoming. "Within the Law" is in 4 acts and as many scenes. It will be given by well-known players, who have scored individual hits in their respective roles. Seats on sale Tuesday at 9 A. M.

A large audience witnessed "A Butterfly on the Wheel" at the New Opera house last evening, 75 coming from Osceola and intermediate towns on a special train and many coming by automobile from that part of the county.

The play was well staged and excellently played the performance giving satisfaction and not being as "chic" as some people expected.

United States Officials To Conduct Investigation, Which is Open to Public.

© 1913, by American Press Association

While Connecticut authorities are conducting proceedings to determine the cause of the recent wreck at New Haven, in which twenty-one persons were killed, United States officials, members of the interstate commerce commission, are quietly planning for the federal investigation. This probe will be open to the public, differing in this respect from the others. H. W. Belknap (top), chief inspector of safety appliances, J. S. Hawley (center) and F. A. Howard (below), inspector in charge of all railroad lines east of New York, are the United States officers in charge of the investigation.

Spending.

Spending is merely puffing out your personality. It is like the trailing feathers to a peacock—like the long train to a fashionable woman. Why does the barefoot negro boy acquire four yellow dogs? They add to his personality. Why do we all—shopgirls and plumbers, fashionable literary hacks and gentlemanly financial planners—spend every cent we get, honestly and dishonestly, wisely and otherwise? We stretch out as far as we can, and vanity, my friend, is the only balloon that never bursts. Why does the stag grow horns until it can hardly make its way through the forest? And why did Absalom wear his locks so long that they caught in an oak tree and held him until Jonab and his men came up? Vanity! Vanity! In some tribes they worship the fat man, who has put much food under his glistening skin. Among other tribes they worship you for the servants you employ without using for the food you purchase without eating. To spend to use is vulgar, to spend to waste is the only admirable and admired spending. Finis!—Walter E. Wegl in Saturday Evening Post.

PUBLIC BARRED AT CORONER'S PROBE

Many Witnesses at Inquest of New Haven Victims.

U. S. OFFICIALS ON SCENE.

Right to Hold Secret Investigation Based on Fear of Popular Prejudice. Coroner Says Matter Doesn't Concern the Public—Witnesses Not Allowed to Talk Publicly.

New Haven Conn., Sept. 5.—The formal inquest into the wreck which cost the lives of twenty-one passengers Tuesday morning began here behind closed doors. There was no jury. Coroner Eli Mix maintained that he was within his legal rights in holding secret proceedings, stating that a premature publication of facts which might serve as a basis of criminal prosecution would probably prejudice the interests of justice.

William I. Clarkson, a tool manufacturer of 19 Gray street, New Haven testified that the roof of the sleeping car which was overturned was so rotten that it did not hold his weight when he and others tried to rescue the injured and that it crumpled, causing him to fall.

W. H. Belknap, chief inspector of the interstate commerce commission, and C. C. Newell, chief engineer of the Connecticut public utilities commission were the only outsiders permitted to attend the inquest. A. B. Miller, engineer of the White Mountain express, Charles H. Murray, flagman of the Bar Harbor express, E. R. Robertson, Miller's fireman, L. H. Fowler, conductor of the Bar Harbor express and other trainmen were the first witnesses examined.

When newspaper men demanded to be present at the hearing Coroner Mix said it could not be thought of.

Doesn't Concern Public, Coroner Says. "No one must see my witnesses," he exclaimed.

"The matter does not concern the public. It concerns the state of Connecticut alone," continued the coroner explaining why he had arrested and kept from making a public defense. Flagman Charles Murray of the wrecked train and Engineer Miller of the White Mountain express that tore through three sleepers of the Bar Harbor express.

"Then why did you allow the railroad officials to question Miller?" asked a reporter.

Coroner Mix was annoyed. "I want you to understand," he said, "that I hold no brief for the New Haven road. I used my best judgment in the matter."

President Elliott was known to have the testimony, so reporters tried to get it from him. He argued several hours to show why it was not feasible to give it out and at length consented to allow its publication. It remained only, he said, to get the consent of Coroner Mix.

ALL WOODEN CARS MUST GO.

Bill Prepared Provides For Abolition in Five Years.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The abolition of every wooden passenger car in the United States within five years will be demanded in a bill that is being drafted by Representative A. G. Allen of Ohio, the member of the postoffice and post roads committee who framed the steel mail car provision in the post office appropriation bill, and Representative Stevens of New Hampshire, chairman of the safety appliance committee of the interstate commerce commission.

The Allen Stevens bill, which will be reported for passage at the special session of congress if possible, will demand that every railroad in the country retire 20 per cent of its wooden passenger cars per year, beginning Jan. 1, 1914. It will provide for a special corps of investigators, directly under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission, to see that the provisions of the measures are carried out.

GERMAN AIR MEN KILLED.

Two Young Men Testing New Machine Fall a Hundred Yards.

Brieg, Germany, Sept. 5.—Two more officers of the German army's flying corps were killed in an aeroplane accident here. Lieutenant von Eckenbrecher and Lieutenant Prinz, both young men, were testing a new aeroplane over the military aerodrome when the left wing collapsed while they were at a height of 100 yards. The aviators were thrown to the ground and crushed to death.

EDISON MUCH BETTER.

Says He Feels Stronger and Tells of His Work.

Boston, Sept. 5.—"I am feeling better and stronger these past two days," said Thomas A. Edison, a world famous inventor.

"What are you working on now?" he was asked. "Well," he replied, "it is an invention something like the talking pictures. It is a huge phonograph and it will reproduce the operas and operettas. The talking pictures are very crude as yet. It will take me a year to perfect them and my new invention."

Spending.

Spending is merely puffing out your personality. It is like the trailing feathers to a peacock—like the long train to a fashionable woman. Why does the barefoot negro boy acquire four yellow dogs? They add to his personality. Why do we all—shopgirls and plumbers, fashionable literary hacks and gentlemanly financial planners—spend every cent we get, honestly and dishonestly, wisely and otherwise? We stretch out as far as we can, and vanity, my friend, is the only balloon that never bursts. Why does the stag grow horns until it can hardly make its way through the forest? And why did Absalom wear his locks so long that they caught in an oak tree and held him until Jonah and his men came up? Vanity! Vanity! In some tribes they worship the fat man, who has put much food under his glistening skin. Among other tribes they worship you for the servants you employ without using for the food you purchase without eating. To spend to use is vulgar, to spend to waste is the only admirable and admired spending. Finis!—Walter E. Wedel in Saturday Evening Post.

PUBLIC BARRED AT CORONER'S PROBE

Many Witnesses at Inquest of New Haven Victims.

U. S. OFFICIALS ON SCENE.

Right to Hold Secret Investigation Based on Fear of Popular Prejudice. Coroner Says Matter Doesn't Concern the Public—Witnesses Not Allowed to Talk Publicly.

New Haven Conn., Sept. 5.—The formal inquest into the wreck which cost the lives of twenty-one passengers Tuesday morning began here behind closed doors. There was no jury. Coroner Eli Mix maintained that he was within his legal rights in holding secret proceedings, stating that a premature publication of facts which might serve as a basis of criminal prosecution would probably prejudice the interests of justice.

William I. Clarkson, a tool manufacturer of 19 Gray street, New Haven, testified that the roof of the sleeping car which was overturned was so rotten that it did not hold his weight when he and others tried to rescue the injured and that it crumpled, causing him to fall.

W. H. Belknap, chief inspector of the interstate commerce commission, and C. C. Newell, chief engineer of the Connecticut public utilities commission were the only outsiders permitted to attend the inquest. A. B. Miller, engineer of the White Mountain express, Charles H. Murray, flagman of the Bar Harbor express, E. R. Robertson, Miller's fireman, L. H. Fowler, conductor of the Bar Harbor express and other trainmen were the first witnesses examined.

When newspaper men demanded to be present at the hearing Coroner Mix said it could not be thought of.

Doesn't Concern Public, Coroner Says. "No one must see my witnesses," he exclaimed.

"The matter does not concern the public. It concerns the state of Connecticut alone," continued the coroner explaining why he had arrested and kept from making a public defense. Flagman Charles Murray of the wrecked train and Engineer Miller of the White Mountain express that tore through three sleepers of the Bar Harbor express.

"Then why did you allow the railroad officials to question Miller?" asked a reporter.

Coroner Mix was annoyed. "I want you to understand," he said, "that I hold no brief for the New Haven road. I used my best judgment in the matter."

President Elliott was known to have the testimony, so reporters tried to get it from him. He argued several hours to show why it was not feasible to give it out and at length consented to allow its publication. It remained only, he said, to get the consent of Coroner Mix.

ALL WOODEN CARS MUST GO.

Bill Prepared Provides For Abolition in Five Years.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The abolition of every wooden passenger car in the United States within five years will be demanded in a bill that is being drafted by Representative A. G. Allen of Ohio, the member of the postoffice and post roads committee who framed the steel mail car provision in the post office appropriation bill, and Representative Stevens of New Hampshire, chairman of the safety appliance committee of the interstate commerce commission.

The Allen Stevens bill, which will be reported for passage at the special session of congress if possible, will demand that every railroad in the country retire 20 per cent of its wooden passenger cars per year, beginning Jan. 1, 1914. It will provide for a special corps of investigators, directly under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission, to see that the provisions of the measures are carried out.

GERMAN AIR MEN KILLED.

Two Young Men Testing New Machine Fall a Hundred Yards.

Brieg, Germany, Sept. 5.—Two more officers of the German army's flying corps were killed in an aeroplane accident here. Lieutenant von Eckenbrecher and Lieutenant Prinz, both young men, were testing a new aeroplane over the military aerodrome when the left wing collapsed while they were at a height of 100 yards. The aviators were thrown to the ground and crushed to death.

EDISON MUCH BETTER.

Says He Feels Stronger and Tells of His Work.

Boston, Sept. 5.—"I am feeling better and stronger these past two days," said Thomas A. Edison, a world famous inventor.

"What are you working on now?" he was asked. "Well," he replied, "it is an invention something like the talking pictures. It is a huge phonograph and it will reproduce the operas and operettas. The talking pictures are very crude as yet. It will take me a year to perfect them and my new invention."

THE VALUE OF THE BANK TO THE COMMUNITY IS DETERMINED BY:

¶ Its total resources, which, together with its capital, determines its loaning ability are more than three and one-half million dollars.

About the middle of the second hour prices began to edge higher under the lead of Reading and Union Pacific. The first mentioned lost a point from the opening, and the second sustained a net decline of about 1½ points. Most of the list worked back to near the lowest level. From midday to 2 o'clock a condition of sluggishness ruled, the volume of operations falling below the record of the two previous days in the same period. Price movements were narrow, with mixed changes.
